THE WORK BEGUN.

First Day's Meeting of the National Republican Convention.

A LONG-CONTEST IS NOW EXPECTED.

J. Sloat Fassett Selected as Temporary Chairman and Committees Appointed and the Convention Adjourns for the Day—Work Accomplished by the Committees—Preparing for the Real Work of the Convention.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—Most of the delegates to the national Republican convention were astir very early. Two considerations brought them out of bed—the necessity for putting some finishing touches on the preliminary canvassing which had been done during last night and the prospect of being shut out of the hotel dining room if they did not bestir themselves. They settled the problem of sleep vs. breakfast, and before 9 o'clock the room of the West hotel was so crowded that the doors were closed temporarily.

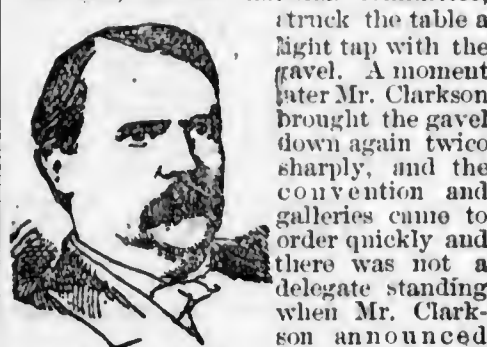

THE GATHERING OF STATES.

The crowd on the streets began to turn toward the convention hall shortly after 10 o'clock, and an hour later there was a struggling mob about the big exposition building trying to get in. The weather cleared as the hour approached for the opening of the convention. The sun broke through the clouds and lit up the foaming cascades of the river, and threw pleasant gleams of amber light athwart the prevailing brown tints of the convention hall. It was lucky for all concerned that the weather was fair, for in the haste of the opening preparations outward signs in directing the press and others as to numberless entrance doors that had been selected for their admission were entirely overlooked.

The delegates were slow in arriving. At 11:30 there were less than 500 people in the building or not more than one-twentieth of the ticket-holders.

The first burst of cheering arose when Governor McKinley, of Ohio, was recognized moving down the main aisle at 11:45. Immediately afterward, New York's big four, Platt, Hiscock, Miller and Depew, closely followed by the entire delegation in a body, marched down the center and were warmly applauded. They took their allotted seats immediately in front of the chair.

It was just 12:30 when Chairman Clarkson, of the national committee, struck the table a light tap with the gavel. A moment later Mr. Clarkson brought the gavel down again twice sharply, and the convention and galleries came to order quickly and there was not a delegate standing when Mr. Clarkson announced that the session would be opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Brush, chancellor of the University of South Dakota. A moment after the whole convention stood as Dr. Brush, a venerable-looking man, with sparsely covered head and long white beard, began to deliver the invocation. His prayer was as follows:

Oh, Thou, who do presidest over the destinies of nations we invoke Thy gracious presence as we now approach Thee in prayer. Thou art the source of all our blessings. Thou art infinite and we are finite; and in view of the disparity between Thee and ourselves we are embolden to approach the throne of grace and ask for the blessings that we need. Oh, God, regard us graciously as we now present ourselves as worshippers preparatory to the business of this convention. We implore Thy blessing to rest upon all here. Bless thine official relations; bless the constituencies they represent. Oh, God, grant that this body may be loyal to the principles of Thy word; loyal to nationality. May all partisanship be held in abeyance in the presence of the greater good. Oh, Lord, may there be a disposition to surrender local prejudices and preferences, to be united in one grand principle and policy to subserve the greatest good of this great nation. Thou hast been with this nation in all its past; care for it in the successive processes of evolution. Oh, God, thou hast been with it in dark and trying period. Thou hast preserved the nation amid perils, and we thank Thee that Thou hast thus preserved it as the republican nation of all the nations of this globe. Now, we ask Thee, oh, Lord, as we pause on the threshold of this republican occasion, we ask Thee to vouchsafe grace to every individual, and may the greatest harmony be evolved from seeming antagonism and discord, and may the great good of the nation be subserved. We ask Thee that party and platform may be subordinate to principles. May we recognize the great truth that righteousness exalteth a nation and that sin is a reproach to any people. Oh, God, it is the changeless, it is the irrevocable decree that Thou wilt preserve the nation that is loyal to Thee and the principles of Thy word. Guide us in our deliberations; may our best results be evolved. Be with us and guide us and our nation in its future pathway, as in the past, only more glorious. We ask it in the name of Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

At the conclusion of the prayer Mr. M. H. DeYoung, of California, stepped forward and read the call for the convention. The call was issued Jan. 28, 1892. After the call had been read Mr. Clarkson arose and announced that he was instructed by the national Republican committee to present to the convention for its temporary chairman, Hon. J. Sloat Fassett, of New York. Mr. Fassett was elected without a dissenting voice.

J. SLOAT FASSETT.

Mr. Fassett was then called to the platform and introduced to the audience by Mr. Clarkson. He said:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND FELLOW-REPUBLICANS: For the distinguished honor which you have conferred upon me I am very grateful. I assume the duties of presiding officer with extreme diffidence and am sustained by a reliance upon your generosity, forbearance and co-operation. It is eminently fitting that a Republican convention should be held in a temple erected for the display of products of protection to American industries and in this beautiful city of Minneapolis, the joy and the pride of the giant west. This city, which just about equals in age the Republican party, with its prosperous mills and factories and work shops, and its generous and happy homes, abounds in object lessons, teaching clearer than in any words the sound wisdom of Republican doctrine.

The eyes of all the Republicans at home, and the eyes of all our adversaries everywhere, are intensely fixed upon this convention. The Republican party has never yet made a mistake in its choice of candidates. It will not make a mistake here.

The history of our party since 1856 is the history of our country. Count over our chosen whom we are teaching our children to love, emulate and reverence, and you shall name Republicans. Lincoln, Seward, Grant, Sherman, Garfield, Logan, Harrison and Blaine—these are a few of our jewels, and we may proudly turn to our Democratic friends with the defiance.

I have not the time even to catalogue the long list of great works undertaken and performed. The nations of the earth are paying tribute to the sagacity of our legislation and diplomacy in millions upon millions of increased purchases, and Lord Salisbury has been driven to the significant conclusion that even in England free trade has proved disappointing.

Our pledges have been kept, all save one, and I greatly mistake the temper of the Republican party if it will be content until the pledge is made good. Our honor is pledged to continue the contest for a free and honest ballot until this question is settled in the right.

So long as all the privileges of citizenship are not freely enjoyed under the guarantee that the constitution gives to all citizens of this Union, just so long will this be a mission for the Republican party; so long will there be a great work for us, and each Republican may exclaim:

"I live to greet that season,
By gifted men foretold,
When men shall live by reason,
And not alone by gold."

"When man to man united,
And every wrong thing righted,
This whole world shall be lighted,
As Eden was of old."

"I live for every cause that lacks assistance;
For every wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do."

Mr. Fassett completed his speech at 1:09 o'clock, and took the gavel in his hand before the convention realized that he was through.

Fassett was applauded loudly, but almost immediately there went up cries of "Reed, Reed!" and immediately the convention was on its feet, shouting and waving hats. Mr. Fassett held up the gavel in his right hand for a momentary silence. "The Hon. Thomas B. Reed is always in order," he said. Every eye in the hall was on the big man from Maine as he sat in his gallery chair, his face crimsoning and shook his head in response to the continued calling. But the convention would not be satisfied without him.

The applause continued until Mr. Reed, rising, his straw hat in his hand, picked his way to the aisle and walked down to the chairman's platform. It was with a gratified smile that he took the hand of Mr. Fassett. Then he stepped to the front of the platform and stood for a moment looking about the hall. There were cries of "Quorum!" from the delegates. Mr. Reed did not understand, and he turned to ask Mr. Fassett what it was. Then he turned back to his audience and in a profound silence began to speak. He said:

MR. PRESIDENT AND FELLOW-CITIZENS: I want to add to the presence of this vast audience my hearty expression of faith in the Republican party. Its past needs the endorsement of history, for the deeds of the Republican party is history itself. And while we are prevented from pointing with pride to the achievements of our party on account of tenderness for the Deceit, nevertheless, we sit here today rejoicing that our past history shows that from our birth until now our character has been such that it is a guarantee of the magnificent future which we are sure to have.

It is true that we have done great things, but it is equally true that we have no right to rest upon them. Our past is glorious, but our future will be more so. It is true that we have given to this great country a wonderful physical prosperity. It is true that wealth has been poured into the lap of all our people by the great system which we believe in, and which we have carried out. But I say to you today there is a nobler future even than of giving prosperity to the country before the Republican party, and that nobler future is to give to every citizen of the United States the liberty of thought and action. Wealth and prosperity are noble, but human liberty is magnificent.

Mr. Reed's speech was received with enthusiastic applause. Bowing his thanks as he concluded, Mr. Reed left the platform and returned to his seat. Then there were cries for McKinley and, amid great enthusiasm, he bowed his thanks. The cries of "McKinley!" mingled with "Ingalls!" continued until the chairman said as he brought down his gavel: "No coercion in the Republican convention." A minute later he announced that the convention would "proceed with the regular order of organizing this temporary gathering."

Then Mr. Clarkson presented the following list of temporary officers: Secretaries—Charles W. Johnson, Minnesota; F. N. Arthur Holt, Ohio; Carson Lake, New York; George Lee, Colorado; J. O. Browne, Pennsylvania; W. P. Brownlow, Tennessee; Arthur S. Clark, Massachusetts.

Assistant secretaries—Theodore F. Simons, California; Philip S. Churchman, Delaware; Aaron Bradshaw, District of Columbia; Charles Hopkins, Ohio; Charles S. Morris, Kentucky; A. W. Morrison, Maryland; J. W. Dimmick, Alabama; J. B. Walker, Montana; T. V. McAllister, Mississippi; Otto Gramme, New York.

Reading clerks—C. F. Harvey, Minnesota; G. H. Stone, Michigan; J. S. Kenyon, New York; H. S. Oliver, North Dakota; Charles Curtis, Kansas; Charles Partridge, Illinois; J. B. Miles, Wisconsin; W. E. Riley, Kentucky.

Stenographers—T. C. Rose, New York; J. F. Burke, Pennsylvania.

The report was adopted. Committees were then appointed on permanent organization, rules, order of business and credentials.

A motion to adjourn for the day was put and carried, and those not members of standing committees slowly filed out of the house, and the committeemen adjourned to their respective committee rooms to proceed to business.

A DARK HORSE BOOM.

Some People Think That Neither Blaine Nor Harrison Will Be Nominated.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—Yesterday was a day for the revival of the third candidate boom—not the Alger boom, but the dark horse boom. While there were various names mentioned in connection therewith, that most frequently heard was Senator Allison, of Iowa. It was advocated from the far east, where its interests seemed to be confided to the charge of United States Senator A. J. Higgins, of Delaware; from the west and northwest, where Editor George Thompson, of the St. Paul Dispatch, one of the Minneapolis delegates, was the chief bingleman. Senator Higgins for several weeks before the convention was of the opinion that his distinguished colleague from the Hawkeye state would be the most available man upon which to consolidate all differences.

Editor Thompson spoke quite enthusiastically for the prospect yesterday evening and said that an extensive business was being done by Senator Higgins and several competitors on missionary lines. He was of the opinion that the indications seemed to point to the nomination of a third man, a result which he anticipated with apparent pleasure. "Both sides," he said, "are willing, from what I hear, to accept a compromise candidate, offers having been made as reported to meet looking to the selection of one."

Another editor, Frank Hatton of the Washington Post, who was postmaster general in Arthur's cabinet, and who was equally well known for his opposition to President Harrison and Mr. Blaine, is the engineer of another dark horse movement. Mr. Hatton seems to be willing to take anybody which will tend to knock out both the principal candidates. He came here talking for Sherman, but is quoted as having transferred his affection to Minister Lincoln, of Illinois. "Whatever Lincoln has attempted, he has done well," he said. "It is no easy matter to carry the Lincoln name, but Bob Lincoln has done this, which is more than any of the other sons of heroes have done with the great war-established reputations. I understand, he said, that there is quite a sentiment in his favor in Massachusetts and he is to be counted among the possibilities. He is a clean man, an able man, and every Republican in the country would vote for him."

An Iowa delegate was asked if there was any support for the Allison boom in his delegation. He said he knew of no such boom. He was as near to Senator Allison as any one outside of the state.

Ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, said that it would never do to take a candidate from a prohibition state unless the party was able and willing to get along without the votes of those states in which there was a large foreign and liberal element.

COMMITTEE WORK.

A Platform Being Prepared and Other Preparations Being Made.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The committee on resolutions met immediately after the adjournment and elected J. B. Foraker, of Ohio, chairman, and George W. Thompson, of Minnesota, secretary. A sub-committee of nine was appointed to consider resolutions and report on them. Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, was anxious to know whether this committee was to prepare the platform and report it to the full committee. If so, he wanted some sub-committees appointed instead.

Mr. Gear, of Iowa, moved that the chair appoint a sub-committee of five each on tariff, silver, the race question and other matters. Some one suggested "the election question" for the race question. Foreign relations was also proposed and accepted as a subject for consideration by a sub-committee. The Nicaragua canal was proposed, but the proposition did not meet with favor.

The committee after a few minutes session took a recess to 8 o'clock in the evening. At 8 o'clock the committee again met and after several hours' secret session adjourned. They have not yet completed a platform.

Committee on Credentials.

The committee on credentials organized by the selection of Congressman Cogswell, of Massachusetts, as chairman, and H. Terrell, of Texas, and Henry Lamm, of Missouri, secretaries. A recess was then taken.

The committee reassembled at 8 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment in the room of the national committee and immediately went into executive session. The subject before the committee was an arrangement of order of business which seemed to be quite a stumbling block because after considerably more than an hour it was stated that one had not yet been arranged and none of the contesting delegations had been asked to enter the room.

The unfortunate contestants and contestees who were wearily waiting for the summons to appear and present their cases were constrained to accept as true that a long and tedious delay was before them as part of the scheme to affect the vote for the presidential nomination. The Harrison men assert that their antagonists, having become satisfied that they can not secure a majority for their candidate, are playing a waiting game, hoping to tire out some of the president's supporters. But this, they say, it will be impossible to accomplish.

The committee adjourned at 10:30.

Committee on Permanent Organization.

The committee on permanent organization met at the headquarters of the Montana delegation. Nearly all the members of the committee were present, and Governor William McKinley was selected for permanent chairman of the convention without opposition. No other name was even suggested. The list of honorary vice presidents and secretaries were not completed, most of the delegations having failed to hand in the names. It was decided not to select the active secretaries and reading clerks chosen by the temporary organization on recommendation of the national committee.

Committee on Rules.

The committee on rules met and elected General H. H. Brigham, of Pennsylvania, chairman, and Judge S. F. Stahl, of Arkansas, secretary. It was decided to recommend to the convention the adoption of the rules of the convention of 1888 with a few important changes made necessary by the admission of the new states since then.

LONG CONTEST EXPECTED.

The First Ballot May Not Be Taken Until Next Week.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—In the general anxiety to ascertain who is to be the standard bearer of the Republican party in the next election one very important point has been to a considerable extent overlooked. This is that the convention has without any one, except the leaders, knowing the full significance of its action, bound itself by cast iron rules to dispose of all of the contested cases before taking up the platform, and pledged itself to adopt a platform before it permitted the first nomination to be made.

How long these matters may delay the convention is a problem which opens a wide field for speculation. The contested cases alone are so bitterly fought that the committee on credentials may well claim, if so disposed, a day or more for their consideration. Then comes the platform, with the silver fight, and the demands of the Afro-American league for a new force bill. The committee on resolutions will not be ready to report for some time yet, and their work may, when completed, give rise to a hot debate in the convention. It is therefore fully within the possibilities, bearing in mind the difficulties which surround both the committee on credentials and the committee on resolutions, that the first ballot for president may not be taken before Saturday or Monday next.

New York Delegates.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The event of the night was the meeting of the New York delegates at the rooms of C. M. Depew. Twenty-nine delegates were present, all of whom pledged themselves to vote for President Harrison's renomination against all candidates. Mr. Depew presided, and made a vigorous address in favor of Harrison, as also did Senator Hiscock and others. A number of telegrams—twenty or more—were read to the gathering urging the delegates to vote for and support General Harrison on the ground that his nomination would be for the best interests of the party.

Committees were appointed to visit other state delegations and present the resolutions why twenty-nine delegates from New York urge the renomination of President Harrison. Besides those present at the meeting it was said that two more delegates would vote for the president and that eight would not vote for Mr. Blaine. These, the delegates present said, would ultimately join the Harrison column.

Sherman Favors McKinley.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Press this morning has a special dated Minneapolis, June 8, 1 a. m., which says that Senator Sherman has written a letter favoring McKinley. Mr. Sherman's letter is said to be in the hands of the biggest supporters of Harrison. McKinley is under his wing. This is regarded as significant. This declaration from one of the great statesmen of the land is simply an announcement that they have got to choose a new man to beat Mr. Blaine.

Law Unconstitutional.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—Several months ago the city council placed a tax of $1,000 on each brewery doing business in the city, the tax being in the nature of a license. The breweries refused to pay the license on the ground that it was unconstitutional and suit was brought to enforce it. Yesterday the circuit judge decided the case, holding that it was unconstitutional and void. The point made by the court is that the law discriminates between those who sell by keg or barrel and those who bottle beer.

Oil Tank on Fire.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 8.—There is great excitement at this hour over the report that the big oil tank on the Clapp farm has just caught fire. There is much apprehension lest there should be another explosion.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Fair Wednesday; south winds; warmer Thursday.

It looks very much like Blaine has Harrison downed already at Minneapolis, and the only question now is, can Harrison defeat the Plumed Knight with Sherman or McKinley?

REPUBLICANS everywhere have been rejoicing over the Hill-Cleveland wrangle in the Democratic household, but this hasn't been mentioned since last Saturday. They were rudely awakened to a realization of the fact that there is a ruction in their own ranks that bids fair to disrupt the G. O. P. and tear it wide open.

Our contemporary the Ledger, assures Mr. Blaine of its hearty support if he should walk off with the Presidential persimmon at Minneapolis this week. The Ledger may support him, but we know two good Republicans who say they will not vote for the Plumed Knight, if he should be the nominee of their party.

THE STATE TREASURY.

Figures Showing Its Condition at the Close of Business on May 31.

The books in both Auditor Norman's and Treasurer Hale's offices have been compared, and their accuracy tested for the month of May. At the close of business on May 31 the various funds in the State treasury made the following showing, viz:

SINKING FUND.
Balance, May 1.....	$120,546 58
Receipts during May.....	5,417 12
Total	$125,963 70
Expenditures in May.....	10,000 00
Total	$115,963 70

SCHOOL FUND.
Balance, May 1.....	$100,546 82
Receipts during May.....	3,370 66
Total	$103,917 48
Expenditures in May.....	681 46
Total	$103,236 02

GENERAL EXPENDITURE FUND.
Deficit, May 1.....	$79,891 77
Receipts during May.....	41,444 32
Total	$38,447 45
Expenditures in May.....	162,233 21
Deficit in this fund May 31.....	$123,785 76

Balance in treasury May 31.....$261,499 06

From this it will be seen, says the Courier-Journal correspondent, that not considering the amount due the Sinking Fund by the General Expenditure Fund, there is not enough money in the State treasury by more than $51,000 to equal the amount due the School Fund. The tax rate having been at last settled by the Legislature and increased five cents on each $100 for this year, will partly help to provide for the emergency in October, when the first school draft of more than $650,000 falls due. The Sheriffs of the State have been notified by the Auditor to begin the collection of the revenue at once, and on account of the deficit in the General Expenditure Fund, which will continue to increase monthly for a couple of months or more yet, they will be urged to make more than the usual diligence and promptness in their collections and reports.

Sunday Excursions to Cincinnati.

Commencing Sunday, June 12, the Chesapeake and Ohio will run excursion trains to Cincinnati every Sunday during the summer. Leave Huntington 5:10 a. m., Russell, 6 a. m., reaching Cincinnati 11:05 a. m. Returning, leave Cincinnati 6:45 p. m., stopping at all stations.

Improvement at the State National.

A modern vault and safe deposit boxes will be put in by the State National Bank in a short time. This was decided upon at the last annual meeting, and the work of improvement was entrusted to the President, Mr. Wm. H. Cox, and the Cashier, Mr. Charles B. Pearce, which is sufficient guarantee that it will be well done.

The present vault will be removed to the rear, and the entrance to the safe deposit department will be on Second street, just west of the present bank entrance.

These changes are made in the interest of patrons of the bank, and when completed no similar institution in the State will have better facilities for the transaction of banking business.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Marriage of Miss Mary Hall Cummings and Mr. W. F. Parker Tuesday Afternoon.

The residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Strode was the scene of a quiet wedding yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Strode's niece, Miss Mary Hall Cummings, and Mr. W. F. Parker were united in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The nuptials took place at 3 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Pope, President of Millersburg Female College, officiated. Only relatives of the happy young couple were present.

The newly wedded were showered with rice as they departed shortly after the ceremony for Chicago, where they will spend a week or so previous to taking up their residence in Atlanta, Ga.

The fair young bride was very lovely in a pretty costume of tan-colored cloth. She is the oldest daughter of the late Robert Cummings, and is a granddaughter of the late James H. Hall. She has resided with her aunt, Mrs. John A. Miller, of Atlanta, for a year or so.

The groom is a popular young business man of Atlanta, being connected with a large wholesale establishment as traveling salesman.

The couple received a large list of valuable wedding presents, but one of the most elegant was a solid silver water service, a gift from the members of the "Horse Guards," a military organization of Atlanta.

The BULLETIN joins the couple's many friends in wishing them a bright and happy future.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Wood spend Tuesday in Cincinnati.

Miss Taylor, of Augusta, is the guest of Miss Sallie Wood.

Mrs. Anna Threlkeld has returned from a visit at Covington.

Commonwealth's Attorney Sallee was at Lexington yesterday on business.

Miss Bradford, of Covington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Ellis, of Forest avenue.

Miss Elsie Caldwell, of Ashland, is visiting Mrs. Rebecca Hamilton, of Lindsay street.

Miss Jennie West, of Cincinnati, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Forman, near Washington.

Miss Lulu Orr, of Cincinnati, has returned home after a pleasant visit to the family of Mr. Simon Nelson.

DR. HALE'S Household Ointment is effecting more wonderful cures than any remedy in the world. Ask Power & Reynolds about it.

Rev. D. A. Beardsley leaves to-morrow morning for his home at Quanah, Texas, after a very pleasant visit here. He will go by way of Lexington.

HONORED BY THE HIBERNIANS.

City Clerk O'Hare Unanimously Chosen State Delegate—Closing Business.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians reconvened yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, but on account of some committee work not much was done until 11:30 o'clock, when the convention got down to business and rushed things through.

After finishing the other work, the convention proceeded to the election of State officers.

The selection of State Delegate was the first in order. A member from Shelby County nominated our fellow townsman, City Clerk M. A. O'Hare, in a very neat and highly complimentary speech. Mr. O'Hare asked the gentleman to please withdraw his name and the Shelby delegate, seeing that Mr. O'Hare was in earnest, reluctantly complied with his request.

Mr. Thomas McCann, of Louisville, then arose and after paying a tribute to Mr. O'Hare again placed his name before the convention, and Mr. O'Hare was elected by acclamation. It is the first time in the history of the organization in this State that a State Delegate has been elected without a hard fight. Mr. O'Hare carries his honors well, and is receiving congratulations from a host of friends. The Hibernians honored one who was deserving, and who will reflect credit on himself and the organization.

Mr. James Coleman, of Louisville, was elected State Secretary, and Judge M. T. Shine, of Covington, State Treasurer. After some pleasant had been indulged in, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The rapid progress of our organization in the State of Kentucky is due, after God, in a great measure to the diligence and zeal of our worthy State officers, therefore

Be it Resolved, That the gratitude of this convention is due to our zealous State officers, and that we hereby tender them our thanks for the efficient pains taken in the administration of their various duties.

WHEREAS, Liberty, the greatest and noblest prerogative of true Americanism, is greatest and noblest in proportion to the nobleness of the objects to which it is directed, and

WHEREAS, Conscience is the noblest faculty of the noblest part of man, the soul,

Be it Resolved, That we now, as always, pledge our undying fidelity to our noble form of Government, which secures to us that most potent bulwark of true and noble liberty, liberty of conscience, and that our love toward our country is second to none but our love towards our God.

WHEREAS, By the grace of God, through the Roman Catholic Church, the temperance movement is meeting with unparalleled progress, not only in this State, but throughout the broad land which we so proudly call our home,

Be it Resolved, That we therefore rejoice and thank God that this ennobling virtue is so fast growing among us and consists only with our great corner-stone of christian charity. We commend and encourage this movement and pray God to speed the day when intemperance among the Irish people will be unknown.

WHEREAS, The officers and members of Division No. 1, of Maysville, Mason County, Ky., by their numerous courtesies, generous hospitality and fraternal favors to the various delegations to this State convention held in their beautiful city have won for themselves the gratitude of this assembly, therefore

Be it Resolved, That we hereby express our thanks for this display of true Hibernian spirit so graciously shown by them on this occasion.

The following was also adopted:

WHEREAS, The Knights of Pythias of the city of Maysville, wishing to show their esteem of the A. O. U. Division No. 1, Mason County, and desiring by deed, as well as by word, to testify the practical friendship which they advocate, have invited the County Board of said division and us, their visiting delegates, to this State convention to partake of their entertainment on the evening of June 7th, 1892.

Be it Resolved, That we, the Ancient Order of Hibernians of the State of Kentucky, in convention assembled, express regrets at our inability to enjoy a hospitality which is actuated by such noble aims, being obliged to take a very reluctant departure for home.

Be it further Resolved, That the gratitude of this convention is due and is hereby expressed for this friendly and much esteemed courtesy on the part of that gallant organization, the Knights of Pythias of Maysville, Ky.

The new officers were installed, and the old ones retiring returned thanks to the convention and once more fell into line.

The delegates were all highly pleased with their visit to Maysville and will always have a warm place in their hearts for the "Seven-Acre City." Judge M. T. Shine, of Covington, paid the Hibernians of Maysville a compliment that any body of men would be pleased with, coming from such a source. Several of the delegates complimented the boys and spoke in very flattering terms of the manner in which they were entertained.

The convention adjourned to meet in June 1894, at Louisville.

G. S. JUDS, insurance and collection agency.

PETER J. BECKER, ex-Collector of Covington, is found to be $52,000 short in his accounts.

The first trestle for the extension of the street railway to the fair ground is about completed and the contractors are now engaged on the last one.

The lecture on "Ears" delivered by Rev. C. S. Lucas at the Christian Church last night was very instructive and entertaining. A large crowd was present.

The reports as to the injury of John Hettich, ex-Maysvillian, at Cincinnati last Friday were greatly exaggerated. His friends are glad to learn that he was not dangerously hurt. He will be out in a short time.

The High School commencement will be held at the opera house next Friday night. In addition to the regular programme, Miss Caldwell, the talented vocalist of Covington, will sing several selections.

An amendment to the Election bill now pending in the Legislature has been adopted by the House, requiring County Courts to divide the counties into voting precincts on or before the September term of court.

E. L. WILLET, familiarly known as "Tuce," leaves for Portsmouth, Ohio, today, where he has accepted a position in a shoe house. If capacity, accommodation and good manners can win success, he is certain to have a large share of it.

LIGHTNING burnt out two armatures at the electric plant in the West End yesterday just after 12 o'clock and stopped all traffic on the street railway the rest of the day. The repairs were completed last night, and the cars are again running.

ART AT HAYSWOOD.

The Reception Last Night Attended By a Large Crowd—Pictures Exhibited.

A large and very appreciative audience visited Hayswood last evening to enjoy a few hours socially and to see the work executed by the pupils in art during the school year just closed. The display was highly creditable to the school, and the teacher, Miss Stone, and her pupils.

Among the pictures exhibited were a water color study in corn by Miss Julia Cox, which was particularly admired. She also had on exhibition some studies in still life in water color and black and white.

A beautiful landscape in oil by Miss Fannie Bierbower was much admired; she also has done much excellent work in water color, black and white.

Miss Bessie Chapin showed great proficiency in numerous pieces in water color, black and white. A lovely picture of some nasturtiums deserves special notice.

Miss Laura Thomas had several choice specimens in water color.

"The Venetian Landscape" by Miss Anna Shackelford received most favorable comment.

The little folks, Tom Hall, Mary Mebane, John Cochran and Roy Cochran, had a number of pretty pictures on display which showed they had received excellent training in drawing. The clay models were a new feature of the art work the past year, and proved very interesting to those present last night.

MR. JOSEPH CARPENTER has the thanks of the BULLETIN for a late copy of the Pittsburg Times.

The rain storm yesterday about noon did considerable damage at Orangeburg and in that vicinity. Two bridges were carried away, and the ground was badly washed.

THE BULLETIN is indebted to Hill & Co. the grocers, for a box of delicious strawberries, some of the largest ever brought to Maysville. One of them measured five inches in circumference. The editor managed to surround it.

This is primary night at Hayswood. Pupils of that department will entertain their parents and friends with music, recitations, dialogues, &c. The exercises will commence at 8 o'clock. Friends and patrons of the school are invited.

MR. EUGENE COLLINS was struck by lightning during the electric storm yesterday at noon, but the only injury received was a severe shock. He was out on a raft of timber in front of the Collins & Rudy Lumber Company's establishment at the time, and would probably have been drowned had not Mr. Newton Rudy gone to his assistance. He narrowly escaped falling in the river.

WATKINS & WEIAND have sufficient supply of ice to carry them through the season. Reports to the contrary are not true.

THE BULLETIN enjoyed another treat yesterday in the shape of a box of luscious cherries and strawberries. A gift from Mr. Lawrence Slitz, of Aberdeen.

MURPHY, the jeweler, has made big reductions on ladies' and gent's gold watches and all other goods in his line. Prices guaranteed lower than any other house. Successor to Hopper & Murphy.

We have just received 10,000 cabinet mounts, printed in genuine gold, from Berlin, Germany, to use in making the finest photographs we ever sent out of our gallery.

KACKLEY & Cady.

CAPTAIN GEO. W. TUDOR and Mr. Jos. Carpenter has returned from a pleasant trip to Pittsburg on the steamer Iron Queen. They speak in complimentary terms of the boat and her accommodating officers.

The closing exercises of the Maysville High School will be held at the Washington opera house Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. The public are cordially invited. A box sheet will be opened at Nelson's Thursday morning, where seats can be reserved at a nominal price.

A COMMITTEE of five has been appointed by the President of the State Senate to examine into the propriety of returning to their counties or otherwise providing for the inmates of the Feeble Minded Institute and converting the institute into an asylum for female lunatics. If the committeemen think favorably of the proposition they are instructed to draw up a bill to carry it out. Senators Wall, of this county, and Daum, of Bracken, are members of the committee.

FLOOD DISASTER.

Burial of the Dead at Oil City and Titusville.

ALL BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

Twenty-Two Bodies Laid to Rest—Citizens Still Searching for the Dead—Governor Pattison Goes to Titusville—Relief for the Destitute.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 8.—For the first time since the disaster, attention was given for comfort to the bereaved living and burial of the dead. The request that all business be suspended between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m., Tuesday, and the time be spent in recovering from the terrible disaster; that the injured may receive needed attention and that the dead may receive burial, was generally observed.

Monday everybody engaged in the search for the missing. Tuesday the search went on, but the citizens took time to mourn. All public and many private buildings were draped in somber emblems. The first interments took place in the morning, and during the day twenty-two persons received burial. The funeral of the Mills family was perhaps the saddest incident of the catastrophe. The interment was conducted by the Odd Fellows. Not a relative was present but many a stout heart was stung with the bitterness of death as the last little casket was consigned to the earth. The Mills family came from Ireland five months ago.

At Titusville.

TITUSVILLE, Pa., June 8.—Governor Pattison and party arrived here at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Randolph Blankenburg and Robert McQuade, of Philadelphia, the latter representing the Red Cross society, came with the governor. The party first inspected the ruins and then met a citizens committee, members of the local relief corps. The governor's particular inquiry was with reference to sanitary arrangements. There is great fear that the decaying bodies yet in the debris will cause a pestilence.

Mr. Blankenburg then declared himself ready to sign two drafts of $5,000 each for Oil City and Titusville. The drafts were signed and he was warmly thanked. A committee of three will meet Mr. Blankenburg in Oil City to arrange as to how the money will be applied. After assuring the local board of health that if necessary the state board of health would come to their assistance, the governor and party returned to Oil City.

Including the Standard Oil company's subscription, $12,000 have been contributed for Titusville.

Two bodies were recovered yesterday and were identified as Mrs. John Linner and Mrs. Johanna Cauty. This swells the list of recovered dead to sixty-one, all but two identified, and twenty-five still missing.

President Harrison Contributes.

HARRISBURG, June 8.—President Harrison yesterday sent to Governor Pattison a contribution of $200 for the relief of the sufferers at Oil City and Titusville.

OCEAN VESSELS COLLIDE.

A Steamer and Schooner Come Together in the English Channel.

LONDON, June 8.—The Norwegian schooner Jane Anne collided with the steamer Albert Edward from Boulogne. The schooner stove a hole eight by three feet in the steamship above her water line. There were 500 passengers on board the Albert Edward, and before the schooner backed away, they all were on deck and in the wildest state of fright. Men and women rushed for the boats and made frantic attempts to lower them. Children were trampled in the rush and fifteen or twenty women faint.

The captain and the first and second mates of the crews hurried through the crowd assuring all that the ship was not in danger. When partial order had been restored, an examination of the hole in the ship's side showed that her air-tight system would keep her from immediate danger, and she proceeded to Folkestone, where she arrived one hour behind her regular time. Several women were so ill from fright that they were carried ashore, and are now under medical treatment. Several children who were thrown down in the rush received severe injuries.

The captain says that the sailors saved the lives of two women and a man who got on life preservers as soon as they felt the shock and then started for the rail to jump overboard. Had it not been for the crew's presence of mind, the captain says, the collision would have resulted in several deaths.

The Jane Anne lost her jibboom in the collision, but otherwise suffered little damage and continued on her course.

CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER.

A Well-Known New York Physician Locked Up.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, of 267 West Eleventh street, has been arrested upon the charge of killing his wife, Annie B. Buchanan, by the administration of poison. Mrs. Buchanan died April 23. Drs. Watson and McIntyre attended her at the time of her demise, but they were not called until the day preceding that event.

The physicians said that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage. About a month after Mrs. Buchanan's death, Dr. Buchanan went to Halifax and remarried his divorced wife; shortly after this, some question arose as the cause of Mrs. Buchanan's death. The authorities finally began investigation and dug up the corpse of Mrs. Buchanan.

An autopsy was held which showed at once the woman did not die of apoplexy as Drs. McIntyre and Watson said. What she did die of has not yet been ascertained, but, in the meantime, Dr. Buchanan's arrest was deemed proper.

The deceased Mrs. Buchanan left property valued at $25,000, which, it is said, she bequeathed to her husband.

TESTING GUNS.

Several Inventors Represented at Springfield—Weapons Withdrawn.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 8.—The board on magazine arms continued its tests of guns. On Saturday the Ford gun, invented by Mr. John Ford, of Portneuf, province of Quebec, Canada, and the new rifle lately adopted by the government of Russia, were the subjects of examination. The inventor, believing that the weapon in some minor feature could be improved, early withdrew the Ford rifle and will re-submit it in a few days. Of the Russian rifle but little could be learned from the board, but as the tests were continued all day, it is presumed it passed them without injury.

Reports from abroad state that the arm is of 30-calibre, the same as proposed for our service. Its features, in the form of two distinct weapons, were invented by Captains Nogent and Moissen of the Russian army, and then by order of the czar combined to form the present rifle. Two and one-half million are now being manufactured in Russia and France, of which a large number will be supplied to the Russian army this year. The board examined a number of guns Monday—those presented by M. R. Durst, of Wheatlands, Cal.; Inventor Larsen, of Chicago; General J. C. Kelton, adjutant general United States army, and the Hampden rifle, the invention of Thomas B. Wilson of this city.

The discovery that defective material has been used in the manufacture of the Hampden gun led to its withdrawal, while defects in the cartridges submitted caused Dr. Durst to withdraw his arm. It is understood both these guns will be again submitted at later sessions of the board. General Kelton's gun was submitted to test, as also the Larsen gun.

The Submarine Gun.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The thirteenth projectile in the series of experiments with the submarine gun of the Destroyer was fired at the navy yard Monday evening. It was one of the most satisfactory that has thus far been fired. A charge of twenty-five pounds of spherohexagonal powder was used.

SLAIN FOR A SENORITA.

Desperate Battle Begun at Dinner—Several Killed and Wounded.

DEMING, N. M., June 8.—News has reached here of a terrible tragedy which occurred at Las Palomas, a town on the border, thirty miles south, Saturday. From what can be learned, an official of the Mexican custom house was entertaining an officer of the regiment, which has been standing ever since the Ascension revolt at his private residence. The daughter of the official, a beautiful senorita, acted as hostess. In the midst of the meal, the house was entered by several guards, led by two young suitors of the daughter. An attack was made upon the officer.

Friends of both parties joined in the fight, and before the regiment could separate the combatants the father and the officer had been killed, and several members of both factions dangerously injured. The battle lasted for several hours, and was characterized by desperate fighting. Pistols and sabers were the weapons employed. Word was sent to Deming for physicians, and ready response was made. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause for the attack. For some weeks past there has been considerable trouble between the officers and soldiers of the regiment, and frequent fights have occurred. Only a few weeks since a soldier was shot dead in his tracks by an officer for some trivial act of disobedience. At this writing it is impossible to obtain the names of the dead and wounded. The town is in Mexican territory.

EXPECTING A FLOOD.

Heavy Rains in Pennsylvania, Create Alarm Along the Rivers.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—Pittsburg river men are expecting a big flood in the Monongahela river. The marks show 13 feet and 6 inches and rising rapidly. Heavy rainstorms up the river was the cause. Thousands of dollars of damage is reported at various points above. Bridges were washed out and railroads on both sides blocked by numerous landslides.

Three inches of rain fell at lock No. 4 and the river rose two feet in an hour and is still rising fast. River men have steam up in all their craft and are busy making more secure the large fleets of coal now in the harbor.

The police have warned all the people living on the south side low lands and in shanty boats to look out for a flood. In nearly every instance they moved their families and goods to places of safety.

Clondhurst at Monongahela City.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., June 8.—A cloud burst here yesterday and lightning played havoc. The Pennsylvania railroad bridge was washed away and the river bridge is in great danger. Horses and other live stock were drowned and it is feared some lives were lost. Dwellings on the lowlands were flooded, the occupants being compelled to flee for their lives. The Episcopal church was badly shattered by lightning. Washouts are numerous along the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania railroad, causing delay to trains.

The Regular Army "Shoot."

CHICAGO, June 8.—It has been decided to hold the annual infantry and regular army competitive shoot at Fort Sheridan this year, and the cavalry contest at Fort Leavenworth. The dates have been fixed as follows, subject to the approval of the war department: Infantry, Aug. 24; cavalry, Aug. 10 to 16, and regular army, Sept. 10 to 16. Soldiers or officers who won medals last year will not be allowed to compete, and those who took part and were not successful will have to enter the distinguished marksmen's class.
